

Parkdale CLT Newsletter #3

Jan 29, 2013

The research report released!

How can we ensure 'democratic' governance and participatory processes that fairly represent and balance the diverse and conflicting interests of residents in Parkdale-High-Park area? The group of planning students from University of Toronto tackled this question and produced a research report on democratic governance model for Community Land Trust in Parkdale. The report is now uploaded to Parkdale People's Economy website. You can download it from here!

Report back from the community presentation

The community presentation was held on January 10th, 2013 to host a presentation by the same group from UofT. The short report back is available at the website. Compared to experiences of other CLTs from different cities, a very unique challenge in building a CLT's democratic, equitable governance model in Parkdale is its neighbourhood diversity.

YIMBY Festival 2013

Centre for City Ecology is presenting the YIMBY Festival 2013 on February 16th (Sat). At this event, Parkdale People's Economy is going to host a table to showcase our many ongoing projects including Community Land Trust, Community Food Flow, Parkdale Food Network, and so on. The following schedule:

Saturday, February 16, 2013 11am-4pm

Appel Salon at

Toronto Reference library

789 Yonge St., Toronto, ON www.yimbytoronto.org
